

Diane La Voy

One thing that I found delightful though was that at the end of a conversation, he would conclude the conversation by raising his fist and saying, "to our hopeless cause."