Table of Contents

Table of Contents ........................................................................................................................................... 2

SECTION ONE -- HANDY INFORMATION ................................................................................................. 3
    A. QUICK CONTACT INFORMATION ................................................................................................. 3
    B. IMPORTANT DATES ....................................................................................................................... 4

SECTION TWO -- GENERAL INFORMATION .......................................................................................... 6
    A. SERVICES & REQUIREMENTS ...................................................................................................... 6
    B. LAW SCHOOL BUILDING & UT CAMPUS .................................................................................. 10
    C. FACULTY EVENTS ....................................................................................................................... 12

SECTION THREE -- YOUR COURSE ........................................................................................................ 13
    A. GETTING STARTED ..................................................................................................................... 13
    B. THE FIRST WEEK ....................................................................................................................... 17
    C. EXAMS ........................................................................................................................................ 19
    D. GRADING .................................................................................................................................... 22
    E. THE HONOR CODE & PLAGIARISM ....................................................................................... 26

APPENDIX .................................................................................................................................................. 29
    A. SEMINAR RULES ....................................................................................................................... 29
    B. MEMORANDUM CONCERNING EXAM PREPARATION ......................................................... 31
    C. GRADING POLICY ..................................................................................................................... 38
    D. SEXUAL DISCRIMINATION & SEXUAL HARASSMENT POLICY ........................................ 40
    E. EMERGENCY PROCEDURES .................................................................................................... 43
SECTION ONE -- HANDY INFORMATION

A. QUICK CONTACT INFORMATION

Ward Farnsworth 512-232-1120  wf@law.utexas.edu  TNH 2.119
Dean

Robert Chesney 512-232-1298  rchesney@law.utexas.edu  JON 6.238
Associate Dean for Academic Affairs

For questions regarding payroll, parking, and your appointment:
Sylvia Hendricks 512-232-1473  shendricks@law.utexas.edu  TNH 2.118F
Assistant to the Dean

For audiovisual services:
Media Services 512-232-7797  mediaserv@law.utexas.edu  CCJ 1.302

For questions about technology, including classroom technology:
Law Technology Services

Michael Waitley 512-471-2717  mwaitley@law.utexas.edu  TNH 3.102F
Faculty Services Representative

Student Affairs Office:
Elizabeth T. Bangs 512-232-1313  ebangs@law.utexas.edu  TNH 2.117
Assistant Dean (for concerns about individual students and questions about policies and procedures)

Jeana L. Driggers 512-232-1376  jdriggers@law.utexas.edu
Director of Student Services (for questions about scheduling, enrollment, grade submissions, and textbook orders)

Jose L. Mendoza 512-232-1142  jmendoza@law.utexas.edu
Administrative Associate (for questions about make-up classes, room reservations, and course instructor surveys)
B. IMPORTANT DATES

Fall 2014

August 27 WEDNESDAY. Classes begin.

September 1 MONDAY. Labor Day Holiday. NO CLASSES!

September 12 FRIDAY. Last day to add a course or drop a course for a refund. This is the twelfth class day and the date official enrollment is taken. Courses dropped after this date will require approval and will appear on the student’s transcript.

November 27-29 THURSDAY-SATURDAY. Thanksgiving Holidays.

December 3 WEDNESDAY. Monday classes will meet; Wednesday classes will NOT meet.

December 5 FRIDAY. Last class day.

December 6 SATURDAY. Reading Day.

December 8-13 & MONDAY-SATURDAY &
15-19 MONDAY-FRIDAY. Fall semester final exams.

December 19 FRIDAY. Graduating students’ pass/fail information is due in the Student Affairs Office by noon.

December 20 SATURDAY. Official graduation date.

January 22 FRIDAY. Absolutely last day by which grades must be submitted, without exception.
Spring 2015

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>January 20</td>
<td>TUESDAY. Classes begin.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 4</td>
<td>WEDNESDAY. Last day to add a course or drop a course for a refund. This is the twelfth class day and the date official enrollment is taken. Courses dropped after this date will require approval and will appear on the student’s transcript.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>March 16-21</td>
<td>MONDAY-SATURDAY. SPRING BREAK.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May 4</td>
<td>MONDAY. Last class day.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May 5</td>
<td>TUESDAY. Reading Day.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May 6-9, 11-16, &amp; 18-19</td>
<td>WEDNESDAY-SATURDAY, MONDAY-SATURDAY, &amp; MONDAY-TUESDAY. Spring semester final exams.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May 21</td>
<td>THURSDAY. Graduating students’ pass/fail information is due in the Student Affairs Office by noon.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>May 23</td>
<td>SATURDAY. Official graduation date.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>June 16</td>
<td>TUESDAY. Absolutely last day by which grades must be submitted, without exception.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
SECTION TWO -- GENERAL INFORMATION

A. SERVICES & REQUIREMENTS

Appointment
Adjunct faculty appointment dates for the fall are from September 1 through January 15; for the spring, January 16 through May 31. Fall classes, however, start the last week of August and end the first week of December, with final exams beginning shortly thereafter. Spring classes start in mid-January and end during the first week in May, with final exams beginning shortly thereafter. Please check the calendar of Important Dates for exact dates.

Law School Website
The Law School website is http://www.utexas.edu/law/. You can find a great deal about the Law School through the website. By clicking on the resource pages for “UT Law Faculty” and “UT Law Staff” (under “Resources for:” in the lower left-hand side of the home page), you will have easy access to websites with information regarding curriculum, textbooks, Blackboard and Canvas (web-based systems for communicating with your class, posting assignments, class materials, etc.), the library, your financial data, directories, University policies, benefits and insurance, etc.

You are listed as a member of the Law Faculty on the Faculty Profiles page (http://www.utexas.edu/law/faculty/profiles/). If you want to update your faculty profile, contact Sylvia Hendricks.

UT EID
Your UT EID is an electronic identifier that identifies you in UT world. The UT EID is the ID necessary to access multiple applications and secure information. Every faculty member is assigned a UT EID, and if you have had a previous relationship with UT as a student, staff member, or alum, you may already have a UT EID. As a faculty member, it will be necessary for you to upgrade the status of your UT EID by going to the University ID Center and show proof of Identity and place a signature on file. After completing this step at the ID Center, you can use your EID as your electronic signature to complete transactions online that normally require you to go to a UT office in person, show a photo ID, and/or require your signature. An upgraded UT EID is also necessary to access secure systems such as Blackboard, your UT payroll and bank routing information, and to submit grades on the law school grade submission system.

You may upgrade your UT EID in either of two ways:
1. Upgrade when you get your UT proximity card/photo ID (see below). Go to the ID Center. Be sure to bring your driver's license or passport. The ID Center is located in the Peter T. Flawn Academic Center, Suite 102, 2400 Inner Campus Drive. It is open from 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

2. Upgrade remotely via the internet by going to: https://idmanager.its.utexas.edu/eid_self_help/. Contrary to what this website implies, you may upgrade remotely even if you live in Austin. You will need to download a form from this website, complete it, have it notarized, and fax or mail it to the ID Center.

A word of caution: Your UT EID and password are what identifies you on UT secure websites. Please protect this identity.

Faculty Assistant

You will be provided with a Faculty Assistant. Your assistant is available to assist you with: the preparation of class materials, photocopying, distribution of class materials, and exam preparation.

Law Library

The Tarlton Law Library is one of the largest academic law libraries in the country. It is recognized worldwide for its innovative programs and services and for its distinguished resource collections. Tarlton occupies a newly remodeled facility that features the outstanding Hyder Art Collection.

To assist you with your class preparation, you will be sent the name of the reference librarian who will serve as your faculty liaison. You will be contacted by your liaison before the beginning of the semester. Your liaison can assist you with any library-related matters, including offering you or your students specialized tours or research instruction, putting materials on course reserve, and making past exams available online for students. The Tarlton Law Library has a large collection of print and electronic resources. Many of the electronic resources are licensed to the University and some are restricted by passwords; their licenses restrict their use for academic purposes only. If you need a password in order to use any of these licensed library materials during your class preparation and teaching, please ask your liaison for assistance. If you have any questions about Library policies or services, please contact your faculty liaison or Matt Steinke (msteinke@law.utexas.edu), Assistant Director for Public Services.

Communications: Email & Mail

Official communications at UT are made via email. Therefore, be sure that you have a valid email address on file. See the “Update your employee information” link on the Faculty Resources page of the Law School website. The law school will be issuing @law.utexas.edu email addresses to each of you. Those email addresses will be in the form of your first initial and last name; for example, John Doe would be jdoe@law.utexas.edu. You can choose to use the new @law email address or to contact Sylvia Hendricks at shendricks@law.utexas.edu to setup a forward to an email address of your choosing. All adjuncts are members of the “faculty-adjuncts” Law School email list, so you will be getting periodic emails from that list.
You will be provided a mailbox in our Communications Center (Room 2.101). The Center is open Monday-Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Please check it periodically (or have your faculty assistant check it) so that it does not fill to overflowing with periodicals and other mail. Outgoing mailboxes for personal mail, campus mail, and for postage-needed official mail, are available at the Communications Center as well as fax machines. Your Faculty Assistant or Elaine Pinckard, who sits just outside the Communications Center, can assist you.

Sensitive Data, FERPA, and Encryption

All faculty must maintain the confidentiality of University information and data that is protected specifically by federal or state law, University rules and regulations, or University contractual agreements. The University calls this data Category 1 (CAT1) data. The CAT1 data most likely of concern to faculty is student records information that is protected under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), which includes, but is not limited to: grades, social security numbers, dates of birth, and potentially most faculty/student communications (e.g. email exchanges). University policy prohibits the disclosure of personally identifiable information about a student without the student’s express written permission. Therefore, extreme care should be used when returning assignments, posting grades, and disposing of rosters and seating charts. If you have specific questions about FERPA, please contact Jeana Driggers in the Student Affairs Office.

All CAT1 data (data includes email) must be encrypted wherever it resides. Any CAT1 data or email that you access or store on a personally-owned device (e.g., a USB key, a home desktop, or smartphone) must be encrypted. For help with encryption of personal devices, you can contact central ITS at 47(5-9400) for solutions. The full list of CAT1 data can be found here:

http://www.utexas.edu/cio/policies/pdfs/Extended%20List%20of%20Category-I%20Data.pdf

will If you need a secure place to store your sensitive/student data, you can use UT Box. You will need your EID and EID password to login or signup here: https://utexas.app.box.com/login

UT Box is a new service and functions in a similar manner to the consumer cloud product called Dropbox, but UT Box is CAT1 compliant (Dropbox is not!).

A former service, known as Webspace, has been retired and is no longer available.

Payroll

Paychecks will be disbursed once a month, on the first day of the month following the month you worked. If you have any questions, see Sylvia Hendricks (2.118F, 232-1473). You may arrange for direct deposit. See “Paycheck profile” link
Photocopying
Self-serve photocopiers and scanners are available throughout the Law School. Your Faculty Assistant can assist you in locating and using the machines.

Mandatory Compliance Training
State law requires all employees to complete sexual harassment training and equal employment opportunity training within thirty (30) days of employment and every two years thereafter. The University’s Sexual Discrimination and Sexual Harassment Policy are set out in full in the Appendix. Once you obtain your upgraded UT EID, you may complete your compliance training online at:

https://utdirect.utexas.edu/cts/

The online training can be completed quite quickly.

Emergency Procedures
The Law School has established safety procedures for emergencies such as fire, severe weather, evacuation and lockdown. A document containing these procedures is located in the Appendix to this Handbook and will be posted in each classroom.
B. LAW SCHOOL BUILDING & UT CAMPUS

Hours
The building schedule for Townes Hall (TNH) and Jones Hall (JON) is as follows. Please note that it is subject to change without notice.

- Monday through Friday: 6:00 a.m. unlocked, 12:00 midnight locked.
- Saturday: 8:00 a.m. unlocked, 5:00 p.m. locked.
- Sunday: 10:00 a.m. unlocked, 8:00 p.m. locked.
- Holidays: building closed, all exterior doors locked.

The building schedule for the Connally Center (CCJ) differs as follows:

- Monday through Friday: 6:00 a.m. unlocked, 8:00 p.m. locked.
- Saturday, Sunday, and holidays: CCJ exterior doors locked, but Saturday and Sunday CCJ can still be accessed through the Level 2 corridor from TNH.

Additionally, on skeleton crew days during Winter Break, the buildings are open from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. On all other days during Winter Break, the buildings are locked.

After-Hours Access
Most adjunct faculty have no need to access the building after hours. However, if you do, please contact Sylvia Hendricks, who will have your proximity/photo ID card appropriately activated. The UT ID card may then be used with card readers at the specific entrances shown with a card symbol on the building maps and at the Law School’s Communication Center: http://www.utexas.edu/law/about/maps/index.php?level=2

Classrooms
If you need access to a locked classroom before 5:00 p.m., ask Elaine Pinckard (at the Communications Center, 471-5151) or any member of the Student Affairs Office staff (at TNH 2.117, 232-1140). If you need access after 5:00 p.m., ask the evening circulation supervisor in the Law Library.

If you need to reserve a classroom for a time other than your regular class period, contact Jose Mendoza in the Student Affairs Office (jmendoza@law.utexas.edu, 232-1140). There is also a link for “Classroom Availability and Reservations” on the Faculty Resources page of the Law School website.

Food & Refreshments
George’s Café, operated by O’s Campus Café, is located on the first floor on the east side of the law school. O’s also operates a coffee bar, which sells breakfast items, snacks, and sandwiches. The coffee bar is located in the Susman Godfrey Atrium, outside the Law Library. Vending machines with snacks and beverages are available near the Tom Clark Lounge, which is located near the Communications Center. Vending machines with beverages are scattered throughout the Law School. The faculty and staff can advise you about other dining options near the Law School.

John B. Connally Center for the Administration of Justice

The Connally Center houses a state-of-the-art courtroom, our trial advocacy program and most of our clinics. It also contains a few small classrooms, two of which have distance-learning capability. If you think you may be interested in using the distance learning facilities, contact Media Services at mediaserv@law.utexas.edu or call 232-7797.

Maps

Maps of the Law School building can be found online by going to the Law School homepage and clicking on the “About” link at the top of the homepage. They also are printed in the Appendix of this Handbook. A University of Texas campus map is located at http://www.utexas.edu/maps/. In addition, an accessibility map for the disabled is at http://www.utexas.edu/maps/.

Parking

Parking is available in the San Jacinto Garage located next to the Law School. You might want to consider purchasing a UT Share Pass, a garage debit card. You may buy the pass at any garage. It offers an opportunity for substantial discounts for garage parking all over campus. For more information see http://www.utexas.edu/parking/parking/utsharepass/.

San Jacinto Garage Hours of Operation:

Garage: 24 hours a day, 7 days a week
Office: 7:45 a.m. until 9:00 p.m., M-F, with special weekend hours for Bass Concert Hall and special events. Office located on Level 1, one level up from the ground, NW corner of the garage.
C. FACULTY EVENTS

Faculty Lounge
The Faculty Lounge is in JON 6.209. You are welcome to use it at any time. Coffee and tea are provided. Many members of the faculty routinely use the faculty lounge, so this might provide you with an opportunity to have some informal contact with the regular faculty.

Faculty Lunch
An informal, open-to-all faculty lunch is held every Wednesday (location TBD). Lunch is buffet-style. Service begins at 11:30 am and continues until about 12:45 pm.

Faculty Colloquia
There are several colloquia series that meet regularly to discuss legal topics offered by regular and visiting faculty. A link to the colloquia schedule and information about the colloquia series can be found on the Events Section of the Faculty Resources page of the Law School's web site.
SECTION THREE -- YOUR COURSE

A. GETTING STARTED

Course Description
You will be asked to provide the Student Affairs Office with a description of your course or seminar that will be made available to the students before early registration. Course descriptions should be provided to Student Affairs by February for those teaching the following fall, and by September for those teaching the following spring. The description should include any course prerequisites. You can see all course and seminar descriptions on the Law School website--check the Faculty Resources page for the link.

Canvas and Blackboard
Canvas and Blackboard are web-based course management systems used throughout the University. You must have an upgraded UT EID with signature on file to access Canvas or Blackboard.

For fall 2014, a Canvas site will automatically be set up for your class (although you need not use it). Canvas gives you access to your class roster, allows you to e-mail your class individually or collectively, and enables you to post announcement, documents, presentations and other materials online.

You may add people without UTEIDs (e.g., personal assistants) to Canvas. However, they must first create a Guest EID at: www.utexas.edu/eid then click on “Get a UT EID.” When the guest EID has been created, email mwaitley@law.utexas.edu with the following information, and he will help you with next steps:

- Full Name
- Guest UT EID
- Why guest access is needed
- How long guest access is needed

During the next year, the University will be completing the transition from Blackboard to Canvas. Starting in fall 2015, only Canvas will be available. If you would prefer to use Blackboard this year, please contact Michael Waitley, LTS faculty service representative (mwaitley@law.utexas.edu).

Classroom Technology
All of our large and medium classrooms are equipped with Crestron control systems, touchscreen PC computers, LCD projectors and screens, document cameras, and DVD/VCR units. All our smaller classrooms have LCD projectors and screens as well as Crestron wall plates and controls to allow for easy presentation and laptop connection. If you want help using this equipment, please contact our Media Services Department at 512-232-7797 or email mediaserv@law.utexas.edu. You may need a key for access to some equipment and Media Service can provide it.

A Classroom Response System or “clicker” system is now available as an option in all our classrooms. The Turning Point product we use intergrates with PowerPoint. If you are interested please contact Michael Waitley, the Law Technology Services Faculty Services Representative, at 512-471-2717 or email mwaitley@law.utexas.edu for more information. Michael can also help you if you are interested in incorporating more technology into your course.

Media Services also provides additional audio-visual support for all other law school classrooms, courtrooms and presentation spaces. The law school has a wide variety of equipment available for classroom use, including mobile HD video conferencing, LCD projectors, DVD/VCR's, televisions, document cameras, video cameras, tape players, and much more. If you would like to reserve equipment or request a class be audio- or video-taped, contact Media Services.

Classroom Seating Charts
You may prepare a seating chart by using the Excel forms that are available for each classroom. These “Blank Seating Charts” are available on the Faculty Resources page of the Law School website.

Class Roster
Class rosters are available on your class Blackboard or Canvas site. Photo rosters are available through the UT Class Information page. You can find both links on the Faculty Resources page of the Law School website.

Textbooks/Course Materials
The Student Affairs Office will contact you to request a list of textbooks for your course. Please respond promptly. Even if your textbooks are ordered directly though the University Co-op or elsewhere, you must notify the Student Affairs Office, which maintains the course book lists that are distributed to students. This is essential for the many students who purchase their books from somewhere other than the University Co-op.

You may also place items in any media on course reserve in the library. To do so, contact Teri Lloyd (tlloyd@law.utexas.edu, 512-471-7726). Faculty members may place personal copies of resources on course reserve. All materials will be returned at the end of the semester (unless requested sooner).

It may be useful for you to consult with a member of the regular faculty who teaches in the relevant subject matter area about the materials you might use for your course or seminar. If you do not know whom to contact, feel free to ask the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs for suggestions. There may be casebooks or other published materials appropriate for your course or seminar, and you may want to contact the major publishers of law school materials to explore this possibility. These are:
If you plan to create a set of materials for your class, a couple of options exist for getting them to your students. First, you may post them or link to them via Blackboard or Canvas. This is a particularly easy way of disseminating any cases, articles, etc. that can be found on Westlaw or Lexis. Class materials can also be duplicated by the University’s Central Duplicating office. You will, however, have to submit the materials several weeks in advance in order to be sure that all copyright clearances can be obtained. (No such clearances are required for Westlaw or Lexis materials, as the Law School is licensed to reproduce such materials for educational purposes.) Give the materials to your Faculty Assistant, who will forward it to Central Duplicating.

If you plan to assign textbooks, notebooks, manuals, or other materials that you have written or prepared, you must obtain approval. Approval must be renewed each year. The link to the approval form can be found at:

http://www.utexas.edu/provost/policies/faculty_textbook/.

Posting Your Class Assignments

If you have assignments for the first few days of class, post them on the class Blackboard or Canvas site.

Scheduling Class Meetings/Make-Up Classes

The Assistant Dean for Student Affairs will advise you of your schedule and your course/seminar room. Courses are required to meet 50 minutes a week for the entire semester for each hour of academic credit. Seminars are required to meet for two hours a week. If you need to cancel a class, you should notify your students via Blackboard or Canvas. For last-minute cancellations, contact your Faculty Assistant or the Student Affairs Office at 232-1140. You must call Student Affairs to reschedule missed class meetings. Our class schedule is quite full and so it is often difficult to find a time that all students can meet and a room in which to meet.

Class-related activities, with the exception of office hours, are prohibited on designated no-class days and during the final examination period. These dates are set aside for students to prepare for and take scheduled final examinations. During this period, papers and projects are not to be due, review sessions are not to be scheduled, quizzes are not to be given, and there are not to be any other class-related activities, with the exception of office hours (Policy Memorandum 3.201)

Registration - Low Enrollments

Adjunct-taught courses or seminars that have four or fewer students enrolled as of the first calendar day of the semester during which the class was to be taught will be cancelled.

Faculty Evaluation

At the end of the semester all faculty, including adjuncts, are evaluated in class by the students using a University-wide form, the Course Instructor Survey. All adjuncts will be evaluated using the online version of the form (the eCIS). The Student Affairs Office will notify you when the eCIS is open for students to complete. You may set aside class time for students to complete the eCIS. If not, students will be asked to complete the eCIS on their own time. Instructors will not see their results until after their grades are submitted. You will receive notification from the CIS office when your results are available.

The Associate Dean for Academic Affairs will read student evaluations each term, and this will provide a partial basis for decisions about inviting adjunct faculty to teach again. Of course, you are free to ask your students earlier in the semester for comments on your performance and suggestions on how it might be improved. Blackboard has a tool that allows you to ask students to give you an anonymous mid-term teaching evaluation.

Students of Concern

The Law School relies on its faculty members to assist the administration in taking care of law students. If you notice that a student has been consistently missing class or seems to be otherwise struggling with personal or academic issues, please notify Assistant Dean for Student Affairs Elizabeth Bangs.
B. THE FIRST WEEK

Course Syllabus

Faculty are required to provide their students and the Student Affairs Office with a course syllabus by the first meeting day of all classes. The University requires that each syllabus contain the following information:

- The course number, course title, unique number, course time, and semester
- Class location
- The instructor’s name, office location, phone number, e-mail address, and office hours
- If there are teaching assistants for the class, their names, office locations, phone numbers, e-mail addresses, and office hours
- URL for course Web site (if any)
- An overview of the class, including prerequisites or co-requisites, the subject matter of each lecture or discussion, as well as the academic/learning goals for the course and how they will be assessed (see Grading section below). A detailed handout can be found at: http://ctl.utexas.edu/teaching-resources/design-for-specific-learning/
- A brief descriptive overview of all major course requirements and assignments
- Description in detail of grading policy and criteria (how many tests, quizzes, papers; weighting of each; amount of homework, etc.
- Attendance and tardiness policy and whether class attendance is used in determining the grade.
- Due dates for homework, projects, etc. that count for 20% or more of the course grade
- Date and time of final exam (when available)
- A list of required and recommended materials, such as textbooks, image collections, audio and audiovisual materials, supplies, chapters, and excerpts as appropriate, identified by author, title and publisher
- A notice that students with disabilities may request appropriate academic accommodations from the Division of Diversity and Community Engagement, Service for Students with Disabilities, 471-6259, http://www.utexas.edu/diversity/ddce/ssl/

Other information that is helpful to include in the syllabus is referenced below.

Announcing Grading Method

University rules require you to inform your students in writing, no later than the fourth day of the semester, of the method by which their grades will be determined. University Handbook of Operating Procedure § 3.22. Please do not deviate from your announced method of evaluation. If you, for example, have told students that grading will be completely anonymous based on a written final examination, do not add a graded in-class group project. If you intend to base grades on a number of different factors (e.g., class participation, written assignments), you need to tell your students what these factors will be and approximately how much each factor will weigh in the grading. You should also let students know how their exam will be structured. If you announce you will have an open-book exam, do not switch to a closed-book exam. If you announce that your exam will be all essays, do not switch to a multiple-choice exam. You cannot change your evaluation method mid-semester. Doing so violates University rules and invariably creates turmoil within the class.

Office Hours

The University requires that all instructors post or distribute office hours. It is particularly important that seminar students have access to their teachers, given that joint decisions are required about the selection of research topics; instructors may also hold individual conferences about outlines and drafts. Your syllabus should list times you will be available for questions and where you can be visited or, in an emergency, reached. You may want to set aside time for meetings or advise students how they can visit with you in person, by phone, or e-mail.

Prerequisites

Prerequisites are requirements students should meet before enrolling in a particular course. Please list any prerequisites (indicating whether required or recommended) in both your course syllabus and course description.

Attendance

Regular and punctual class attendance is required. If you have an attendance policy that was provided in your course syllabus, a student may be dropped from the course, with the consent of the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs, for poor daily attendance at any time prior to the last day of the semester. It is within your discretion to assign either an F or Q to the administrative drop. A Q-drop indicates no academic penalty to the student.

The attendance policy has exceptions for religious holy days and military service, set out below. If you have questions, contact the Student Affairs Office.

Religious holy days

A student who misses classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day should inform the instructor as far in advance of the absence as possible, so that arrangements can be made to complete an assignment within a reasonable time after the absence.

Absence for military service
A student is excused from attending classes or engaging in other required activities, including exams, if he or she is called to active military service of a reasonably brief duration.

Seminars

Each law student must successfully complete one seminar to graduate. The faculty has adopted a set of rules for seminars, to which you must adhere if you are teaching a seminar. The rules provide that a seminar must require students:

To prepare one to three original papers, based on directed and supervised research, addressing one or more law-related issues. The paper or papers are to be primarily of an analytical rather than descriptive nature. Ordinarily, thirty to fifty double-spaced typewritten pages, including footnotes, in the aggregate, will satisfy the length requirement. The instructor will closely review the paper(s) and provide written and oral suggestions for improvements in style and substance. The student will then prepare a revised version of the paper(s) in light of the instructor's and, if appropriate, fellow students' comments. The paper requirement is not satisfied by pleadings, motions, by-laws, documents, agreements, and other drafting exercises.

The syllabus should advise students in seminars of the nature and size of the paper expected. It is also desirable to create and distribute a schedule setting forth when paper topics must be agreed upon with the instructor and when the first and final drafts will be due. You are urged not to allow delays in the submission of the final draft beyond the last day of exams for the semester.

The seminar rules are available through the Faculty Resources page of the Law School website, and reprinted in the Appendix of this Handbook.

Registration—Auditing a Course

You may receive requests from individuals to audit your course. Auditors require permission of the instructor and the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs. Auditors are permitted only when space is available. No more than five auditors are allowed in any section. Instructors and the dean may refuse any request to audit a course. The Assistant Dean will generally only approve auditors who are graduate students from other University departments, practicing lawyers and judges, graduates of the Law School, and graduates of other ABA-approved law schools. Permission to audit a course conveys the privilege of listening and observing but not of handing in papers, taking part in discussion, or receiving evaluations. An auditor does not receive University credit for the course, nor is the course recorded on his or her transcript.

Nothing in these rules prohibits an instructor from permitting guests and visitors.

C. EXAMS

Types
There are various types of exams. You can find examples of past law exams though the link on the Faculty Resources page of the Law School website.

You should be familiar with the nomenclature used at the Law School to describe exams. This will diminish the chance that the students will be confused about how you intend to examine them. Note that take-home and floating exams impose a substantially greater administrative burden than traditional in-room exams.

In-room exam: given at time and day scheduled by Student Affairs Office. In-room exams are administered by the Student Affairs Office.

Take-home exam: given on a specified day scheduled by Student Affairs Office within the exam period. Students may take the exam at a location of their convenience and must return the exam within a prescribed time period. The Student Affairs Office does not administer take-home exams. They must be administered by your Faculty Assistant.

Floating exam: given any time during the exam period at the student’s convenience. Floating exams must be made available to students during the entire exam period. Otherwise, floating exams are like take-home exams. Students may take the exam at a location of their convenience and must return it within a prescribed time period. The Student Affairs Office does not administer floating exams. They must be administered by your Faculty Assistant.

You may specify that your exam is open- or closed-book. If it is open-book, you may limit the material to which students may have access. For example, you might allow them to bring a copy of their textbook or particular statutes into the exam, but not other materials. If you decide to allow access to certain materials, be sure to be precise about what you will and will not allow, and to do so early in the semester. Electronic documents may not be accessed during the exam, so students must possess hard copies of any allowed materials.

For in-room exams, the Law School allows students to type their exam on a laptop. The student must have installed a Law School approved software program that allows laptops to function solely as word processors and disables them from accessing any files and other applications, including e-mail and instant messaging. If you have any questions, feel free to contact Jose Mendoza (232-1140; jmendoza@law.utexas.edu).

Submission to Student Affairs Office

All in-room examinations are administered by the Student Affairs Office. Exams must be submitted to that office no later than three full business days prior to exam date due to external University Duplicating deadlines. There are specific requirements as to the content of the instructions, page numbering, etc. A memo describing them is attached in the Appendix. Your Faculty Assistant is knowledgeable about these requirements. A staff member will contact you if there are any errors. Please check and double-check your exam for any errors before you submit it.

Faculty Presence on Campus During Final Examination Periods

A faculty member is responsible for ensuring that he or she is available during the final exam period for related questions and to resolve problems, and that final course grades are turned in on time. Unless a faculty member has received approval for travel under regular University policy, he or she must be available on campus during final examinations in his or her courses, or available in the Austin area and easily reachable by telephone or e-mail. The faculty member must remain in the Austin area until his or her grades are finalized. If a faculty member must travel during this time, he or she must include on the request for travel authorization how final examination matters will be handled and how he or she can be reached in case of an emergency.

Postponement

Law school policy prohibits the administration of an exam prior to the scheduled exam date; however, under certain circumstances, a postponed exam may be allowed for an individual student or students. Exams are graded anonymously. If any student approaches you with questions regarding an exam postponement, in order to maintain anonymity, direct the student to the Student Affairs Office. Only the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs may approve a postponement and only if certain criteria are met.
D. GRADING

Prompt & Careful Grading

Assigning grades is one of the most important tasks that any instructor performs. Because of the size of our student body and the high student/teacher ratio, our students receive relatively little feedback on their performance. Prompt and careful grading is therefore of the greatest importance. Late and careless grading is a perennial source of student discontent.

The Law School faculty has adopted a mandatory grading policy for all graded classes other than seminars. A copy of the policy is available through the Faculty Resources page of the Law School website, and is excerpted below. Please acquaint yourself with this policy before the semester starts. This will help you avoid making representations to your class about your grading practices that may be inconsistent with the Law School grading policy. In addition, if you assign grades during the semester to written work, projects, exercises, etc., you will be able to do so in a manner that facilitates rather than impedes adherence to the mandatory grading policy.

Grade Policy

The following letter grades are assigned in the School of Law: A+, A, A-; B+, B, B-; C+, C; D; and F. In calculating the grade point average for law courses, an A+ counts as 4.30 points a semester hour; an A as 4; an A- as 3.70; a B+ as 3.30; a B as 3; a B- as 2.70; a C+ as 2.30; a C as 2; a D as 1.70; and an F as 1.30. An explanation of the grading policy appears on the student’s transcript.

All curricular offerings other than clinics are graded on the Law School’s letter grade system. Prior approval of the Dean is required before a course or seminar may be graded on a pass/fail basis. This is granted only in very special circumstances, and must be done well in advance of the semester. Law students are able to elect to take one course pass/fail during their law school career. However, this election by a student will not affect your grading of the course. Instructors will not learn which students, if any, are taking the class pass/fail until after grades are submitted.

A nonlaw graduate student who enrolls in a law school course offered for a letter grade may register on a credit/no credit basis if permitted to do so by his or her graduate adviser.

1. Classes Other Than Seminars

To standardize grading practices across courses and eliminate the incentive for students to choose classes based on the grading practices of the professor, the faculty adopted a grading system for classes other than seminars. This policy requires the professor to produce a set of final grades that generates a class mean (average) grade of 3.3 (plus or minus .05).

a. Mandatory Mean. The mean (average) grade for your course must fall between 3.25 and 3.35 inclusive. There is no rounding up or down;
3.2495 is too low and 3.351 is too high. The online grade submission will not accept grades that are outside this range, and the Student Affairs Office is not permitted to record grades for a class in which the mean falls outside this range unless the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs grants an exception. Note that non-JD students, such as LLM students and nonlaw graduate students, are not subject to the mandatory grading policy. Therefore, their grades are not included in the mandatory mean calculation. However, you may, at your election, decide to include LLM students in the curve in your course. Most faculty members exclude LLM students from the curve, but the decision is completely at your discretion.

b. High Incoming GPAs. If the average incoming GPA of the JD students who enroll in an upper-division class is above 3.5, the maximum permitted mean grade for the class rises accordingly (i.e., to the level of the average incoming GPA of the JD students).

c. Exceptions. Under limited circumstances, a professor may request an exception from the required mean. To do so, before submitting grades to the Student Affairs Office, the professor must submit adequate justification to the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs. The grounds for such an exception are: (1) that the class has twenty or fewer students AND the required mean is not appropriate because of either (a) the method of evaluation or (b) the distribution of raw data; or (2) other truly exceptional reasons. Please note that the exception is not automatic. You must submit a request for an exception to Associate Dean for Academic Affairs. If your exception is based on the method of evaluation, you should request the exception early in the semester.

d. Maximum number of A+ grades. There is an independent cap on the number of A+ grades that may be awarded. A maximum of 6% A+ grades (rounded up to the next whole number) may be awarded in classes other than seminars. No exception from this policy is allowed.

e. Submission of grades. All grades, both preliminary and final, must be submitted electronically (see Procedures below).

2. Seminars

Students in writing seminars are graded largely, if not entirely, on the basis of their research papers. If you should desire to adopt the very unusual practice of having an examination in a writing seminar as an additional basis for evaluation of student performance, the syllabus should make this clear and should explain the extent to which performance on the examinations will contribute to the final grade.
a. No mandatory mean requirement. Seminars are exempt from the mean grade requirement. But even in seminars, there should be a distribution of grades from A+ to B or below.

b. Maximum number of A+ grades. There is an independent cap on the number of A+ grades that may be awarded. A maximum of 15% A+ grades (rounded up to the next whole number) may be awarded in seminars. No exception from this policy is allowed.

Blind Grading of Final Exams

In courses with final exams, the exams are to be graded anonymously (“blindly”). Each student has a randomly-assigned examination number. The faculty member will not be given the students’ names until after exam grades are submitted electronically to the Student Affairs Office. You may take classroom participation or other work into account (assuming that you have notified the students to that effect in writing during the first four class days as required by University rules), but you may do so only after submitting exam grades electronically to the Student Affairs Office. If you are evaluating your students on written work in addition to the exam, you may want to consider arranging for blind grading of these as well, although it is not required.

Seminar and other courses that are graded without reference to a final examination are exempted from blind grading.

Timely Submission of Grades

Final grades must be turned in to the Student Affairs Office no later than the deadlines published on pages 3-4 of this handbook. All grades must be submitted electronically (see Electronic Submission of Grades below).

Late grades are frustrating to the students and put many of them at a disadvantage in their search for a job. We cannot emphasize enough how much ill will this causes among our students. The faculty has recognized the corrosive effect of late grading by imposing upon itself a system for imposing financial penalties for late grades. We cannot impose such sanctions upon adjuncts, but failure to adhere to the grading deadline will be a factor in rehiring decisions for adjunct positions.

Electronic Submission of Grades

You must submit your exam scores (preliminary grades) and final class grades to the Student Affairs office electronically. The electronic grade submission link can be found on the Faculty Resources page of the UT Law website.

Final exam scores are entered by using a student’s exam number. After the exam scores (preliminary grades) have been posted, you will have the ability to see the students’ names and calculate a student’s final class grade based upon factors other than the exam. If you have any questions, contact the Director of Student Services in the Student Affairs Office, Jeana Driggers (232-1140; jdriggers@law.utexas.edu).
Changing Grades

The following rule for grade changes was approved at the faculty meeting on May 31, 1982:

After a final grade had been submitted to, and recorded by, the [Student Affairs Office], it shall not be changed except for good cause submitted in writing to the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs and approved by the Dean of the Law School. Good cause is best exemplified by arithmetical error, but may include other reasons. It is not good cause to change a grade for humanitarian or other reasons merely to affect a student’s grade point average, for example, to achieve honors status, to be eligible for graduation, to be removed from scholastic probation, or to be redeemed from dismissal for academic failure.

It was understood at the faculty meeting that a final grade, while not defined, includes all grades submitted by a faculty member to the Student Affairs Office except a temporary "pass" submitted for some students in a course prior to the time that the entire set of exams for the course has been graded.

Student Access to Graded Classwork

A student has the right to have all written materials that are submitted to meet the requirements of a course returned or made available for review. To be “made available” does not ensure the right to a photocopy, but the materials may be examined in the office of the faculty member or the academic department. Written materials that are not returned to the student must be retained by the faculty member or the department for at least one long-session semester following the completion of the course. Many law faculty members give graded exams to their faculty assistant for distribution and safe-keeping.

After grades are rendered, students often (and understandably) want to meet with the professor to learn about the basis for the grade. These are not always pleasant conversations, to say the least. It should go without saying, however, that we have an obligation as teachers to make reasonable efforts to convey information as to why the grade turned out the way it did. That is especially important, in situations in which the final grade turns in part on non-anonymous measures such as a student’s performance in an oral presentation. Of course, you need not go to unreasonable levels of detail about your grading decisions, and there is certainly no obligation to relitigate the merits of your decisions.
E. THE HONOR CODE & PLAGIARISM

Honor System
All students are bound by the following University Honor Code; law school students are also bound by the School of Law Honor Code described below.

University Honor Code
The core values of the University of Texas at Austin are learning, discovery, freedom, leadership, individual opportunity, and responsibility. Each member of the University is expected to uphold these values through integrity, honesty, trust, fairness, and respect toward peers and community.

School of Law Honor Code
The study of law is an integral part of the legal profession. Students engaged in legal studies should learn the proper ethical standards as part of their education. All members of the legal profession recognize the need to maintain a high level of professional competence and integrity. A student at the University of Texas at Austin School of Law is expected to adhere to the highest standard of personal integrity. Each student is expected to compete honestly and fairly with his or her peers. All law students are harmed by unethical behavior by any student. A student who deals dishonestly with fellow law students may be dishonest in the future and harm both future clients and the legal profession. Under the honor system, the students must not tolerate unethical behavior by their fellow students. A student who knows of unethical behavior of another student is under an obligation to take the steps necessary to expose this behavior. Students in the University of Texas at Austin School of Law are governed by the Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities. Students may be subject to discipline for cheating, plagiarism, and misrepresentations.

Plagiarism
The definition and discussion of plagiarism below is from the Student Judicial Services Academic Integrity website: link.

Additional information is available there. Information about detecting plagiarism can be found at: link.

Plagiarism is an extremely serious violation of academic integrity. The Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities at The University of Texas at Austin defines plagiarism as follows: “Plagiarism” includes, but is not limited to, the appropriation, buying, receiving as a gift, or obtaining by any other means another's work and the submission of it as one's own academic work offered for credit.” (Section 11-802(d)).
Plagiarism can occur in a myriad of forms and media. Although most commonly associated with writing, all types of scholarly work, including computer code, music, scientific data and analysis, and electronic publications can be plagiarized. The aim of this section is to help students and faculty deal with the complex and important issue of plagiarism on campus.

A Question of Intent?
Plagiarism, strictly speaking, is not a question of intent. Any use of the content or style of another's intellectual product without proper attribution constitutes plagiarism. However, students plagiarize for a variety of reasons, and awareness of these reasons is essential for understanding the problem of plagiarism.

Some students choose to plagiarize. Whether claiming to be overworked, compensating for their own perceived academic or language deficiencies, or simply hoping to gain an academic advantage, those who choose to claim credit for another's work are guilty of plagiarism. Those who intentionally plagiarize "borrow" either from published sources, such as books, journal articles, or electronic information, or from unpublished sources, such as a friend's paper or a commercial writing service. Whatever the source, such conduct is a direct and serious violation of accepted standards of academic integrity.

Others, however, stumble into plagiarism. Negligent plagiarism can result from ineffective proofreading, sloppy notetaking, or, most commonly, simple ignorance about the nature of plagiarism itself. Such inadvertent plagiarism, while not an excuse for what is still a serious breach of academic standards, is a more complex area of academic conduct than straightforward copying. Addressing the issue of negligent plagiarism requires a careful examination of both the definition of plagiarism and the appropriate techniques for scholarly attribution.

What is Plagiarism?
Nearly everyone understands that copying passages verbatim from another writer's work and representing them as one's own work constitutes plagiarism. Yet plagiarism involves much more. At The University of Texas at Austin plagiarism is defined to include any use of another's work and submitting that work as one's own. This means not only copying passages of writing or direct quotations but also paraphrasing or using structure or ideas without citation. Learning how to paraphrase and when and how to cite can be difficult, yet it is an essential step in maintaining academic integrity.

Paraphrasing
Like a direct quotation, a paraphrase is the use of another's ideas to enhance one's own work. For this reason, a paraphrase, just like a quotation, must be cited. In a paraphrase, however, the author rewrites in his or her own words the ideas taken from the source. Therefore, a paraphrase is not set within quotation marks. So, while the ideas may be borrowed, the borrower's writing must be entirely original; merely changing a few words or rearranging words or sentences is not paraphrasing. Even if properly cited, a paraphrase that is too similar to the writing of the original is plagiarized.

Good writers often signal paraphrases through clauses such as "Werner Sollors, in Beyond Ethnicity, argues that..." Such constructions avoid excessive reliance on quotations, which can clog writing, and demonstrate that the writer has thoroughly digested the source author's argument. A full citation, of course, is still required. When done properly, a paraphrase is usually much more concise than the original and always has a different sentence structure and word choice. Yet no matter how different from the original, a paraphrase must always be cited, because its content is not original to the author of the paraphrase.

Responding to Violations of the Honor Code

If you suspect plagiarism or another violation of the Honor Code has occurred in your course, immediately contact Elizabeth Bangs, the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs (232-1317, ebangs@law.utexas.edu), who can advise you about how to proceed. If a faculty member determines a violation has occurred she may impose one of the following sanctions:

- Retake of exam or re-submission of the assignment in question.
- No credit or reduced credit for the paper, assignment, or test in question.
- Failing grade or reduced final grade for the course.

But all disciplinary sanctions must follow University procedures and be reported on official forms.
APPENDIX

A. SEMINAR RULES

The writing seminar serves several important purposes. First, it develops students' research skills. Second, it provides each student with an intensive writing experience in preparing one or more papers of an analytical nature. Third, the writing seminar provides students with a valuable opportunity for small group discussion and close faculty contact regarding matters of legal significance.

1. Requirements: For an offering to qualify as a writing seminar, the student is to prepare one to three original papers, based on directed and supervised research, addressing one or more law-related issues. The paper or papers are to be primarily of an analytical rather than descriptive nature. Ordinarily, thirty to fifty double-spaced typewritten pages, including footnotes, in the aggregate, will satisfy the length requirement. The instructor will closely review the paper(s) and provide written and oral suggestions for improvements in style and substance. The student will then prepare a revised version of the paper(s) in light of the instructor's and, if appropriate, fellow students' comments. The paper requirement is not satisfied by pleadings, motions, by-laws, documents, agreements, and other drafting exercises.

2. Size: Writing seminars are limited to twelve students, unless the instructor agrees to admit additional students up to a maximum seminar size of sixteen students.

3. Meetings: Writing seminars will ordinarily meet regularly as a group with the instructor present for the designated number (typically 28) of hours. Writing seminars may meet less often than 28 hours but in no case for fewer than twenty hours total, in order to provide additional time for meetings by the instructor with individual students and for student research and writing.

4. Grading: Aside from the rule that the "A+" grade may not be awarded to more than 15 percent of the students in a writing seminar (which translates into one student for seminars of twelve or fewer students), there is no mandatory grading curve for writing seminars. Nevertheless, the full range of grades (down through F) is available. Differences in the ambition and quality of work are to be recognized by differences in grading; poor papers should be given low grades.

5. Notice and procedure:

(a) The instructor shall provide a Course Description or otherwise provide in writing the basic information about the writing seminar, such as subject matter, prerequisites (if any), and criteria for deciding which students have priority. Instructors offering writing seminars are to be available to answer questions about the course.

(b) At the first meeting, the instructor should set forth in writing the rules by which the writing seminar will be conducted, such as the minimum length and format of papers, permissible subject matter, grading criteria (including what, if anything, other than the paper(s) will be considered), due dates of drafts and final submissions, and the consequences of late submissions (such as failing grade, reduced grade.)

(c) The rules applicable to writing seminars are to be included in student registration and early registration packets and are to be issued to the instructors prior to the first meeting.

(d) Writing seminars shall be regularly and systematically evaluated to assure compliance with these rules.
B. MEMORANDUM CONCERNING EXAM PREPARATION

MEMORANDUM

DATE: April 21, 2014

TO: Faculty Assistants

FROM: Cynthia L. Aranda
Law Registrar, Student Affairs Office

RE: Examinations, Spring 2014

The information below and the attached samples are designed to assist you in preparation for the upcoming final examination period.

The Student Affairs Office (SAO) administers all in-room exams. For all in-room exams, faculty MUST submit the original exam to the SAO a minimum of three (3) business days before exam date [no less than 72, working M-F, hours before exam time (e.g., if exam starts at 8:30 a.m. on Thursday, original must be received prior to 8:30 a.m. on Monday)]. The SAO will order copies of in-room exams from UT Duplicating, if the original exam is received by the appropriate deadline (no less than 72, working M-F, hours before exam time). If the SAO does not receive the original exam by the appropriate deadline, it will be your responsibility to have the in-room exams duplicated and delivered to the SAO at least one (1) business day prior to the examination.

In the event that your professor misses the 72-hour deadline and you become responsible for duplication, we will require the original in-room exam in the SAO immediately upon receipt and prior to duplication. The SAO staff member in charge of the exam will review it for accuracy and verify that it contains all of the required information. If no corrections are required, the original will be returned to you for duplication. Otherwise, you will be asked to make the suggested revisions before duplication.

No later than one business day prior to an examination, the SAO requires: (1) the original in-room exam, (2) one copy of the exam for each student registered, and (3) extra copies. If the exam is an in-room exam (with essay and/or short-answer), 10 extra copies are required for courses with 20 or fewer registered students and 20 extra copies are required for courses with 21 or more registered students. If the in-room exam is 100% multiple-choice, or answer-only-on-the-exam type, only 10 extra copies are required.

Faculty assistants will administer all aspects of take-home and floating exams, including the coordination of duplication. A separate document, describing the procedures relating to the administration of take-home and floating exams, is attached for your reference.
In preparing final exams, we ask that you exercise the utmost security:

1. Type the exam using your (or your professor’s) folder or directory and save on the server.
2. Do not leave your exam drafts on your desk, even if you will be gone for only a minute. Keep them locked in your desk drawer.
3. Never leave your workstation unattended during the time you are working on an exam draft. Please make sure you log off even if you will be gone for "only a few minutes".
4. When you deliver the exam to the SAO, be sure to hand it to the staff member administering the exam; do not just leave it on an individual's desk/counter. The staff member in charge of the exam will go over it with you. If required, you will be asked to make any necessary corrections.
5. To discard any drafts, please feel free to use the paper shredder in the SAO lobby.

Be advised that all exams have at least two sections: the instruction page(s) (which includes the Honor Code) and the question page(s). All take-home and floating exams are also required to have the appropriate cover page (see Attachment #1).

INSTRUCTION PAGE(S)
The instruction page(s) must include the following:

1. A line at the top, where the students can write their exam number.
2. Identifying exam information (e.g., semester/year, date of exam, course, professor).
3. Page 1 of ______
4. What type of exam? Essay, true/false, short-answer, multiple-choice, or a combination of these types.
5. Closed book? Open book? If open book exam, be specific as to which books/materials are allowed. PDAs (e.g., BlackBerry, HP iPAQ, Palm, etc.), e-book readers, smartphones, tablets, and other mobile electronic/digital devices may not be used during exams for any reason, and the only laptops that may be used are those that have Extegrity software loaded and operating, as approved by the Student Affairs Office. The Extegrity software locks the computer and prevents the user from using the Internet or any files on the computer.
6. How many parts? Important: If the exam has more than one part and each part is timed separately (or, if the professor indicates that one part must be returned and the other part may be kept by the student), please prepare the parts separately (begin numbering Part II with page 1). If the exam has more than one part, but the division of time is left to the students and the entire exam is to be either returned or kept by the student, the exam parts do not need to be separated.
7. Total time allocated to the entire exam? How much time for Part I? Part II?
8. Total number of pages? If multiple parts are separated, please indicate "total" pages for each part.
9. Are students allowed to keep the exam questions or must the exam questions be returned?
10. Any other instructions (e.g., word limits, start new page for each question, etc.)?
11. The Honor Code must be typed at the bottom of the instruction page.

QUESTION PAGE(S)
The question page(s) must include the following:

1. Identifying exam information (e.g., semester/year, date of exam, course, professor).
3. Begin typing exam questions.
4. Indicate the end of examination.
COVER PAGE FOR TAKE-HOME AND FLOATING EXAMS
All take-home and floating exams must have a cover page (see Attachment #1). The purpose of the cover page is to remind students to save their exam file in multiple locations in order to avoid losing their exam answers before printing.

Once again, I hope that this information proves beneficial as you prepare for the upcoming final exam period. The SAO knows that each of you will do everything in your power to adhere to the deadlines and policy set forth in this memo. If your professor expects to be out of the building during the day of an applicable in-room exam, we ask that you provide the SAO with a phone number at which s/he can be reached.

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any additional questions. Thank you for your cooperation.

/cla
cc: Visiting/Adjunct Faculty
    Robert M. Chesney, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs
    Elizabeth T. Bangs, Assistant Dean for Student Affairs
    Sylvia Hendricks, Assistant to the Dean
EXAM NO. ___________

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN

SCHOOL OF LAW

SPRING 2014

{DATE OF EXAM}

PAGE 1 OF ___

FINAL EXAMINATION

IN

{COURSE}

{PROFESSOR}

Instructions:

This part must indicate the following:

1. What type of exam? Essay, true/false, short-answer, multiple-choice, or a combination of two, three, or all four.

2. Closed book? Open book? If open book exam, be specific as to which books/materials are allowed. PDAs (e.g., BlackBerry, HP iPAQ, Palm, etc.), e-book readers, smartphones, tablets, and other mobile electronic/digital devices may not be used during exams for any reason, and the only laptops that may be used are those that have Extegrity software loaded and operating, as approved by the Student Affairs Office. The Extegrity software locks the computer and prevents the user from using the Internet or any files on the computer.

3. How many parts? Important: If the exam has more than one part and each part is timed separately (or, if the professor indicates that one part must be returned and the other part may be kept by the student), please prepare the parts separately (begin numbering Part II with page 1). If the exam has more than one part, but the division of time is left to the students and the entire exam is to be either returned or kept by the student, the exam parts do not need to be separated.

4. Total time allocated to the entire exam? How much time for Part I? Part II?

5. Total number of pages? If multiple parts and parts are separated, please indicate "total" pages for each part.

6. Must the exam questions be returned or will students be allowed to keep the exam questions?

7. Any other instructions (e.g., word limits, start new page for each question, etc.)?

HONOR CODE: Chapter 1 of the Honor Code provides, in part: "All law students are harmed by unethical behavior by any student. A student who deals dishonestly with fellow law students may be dishonest in the future and harm both future clients and the legal profession. . . . A student who knows of unethical behavior of another student is under an obligation to take steps necessary to expose this behavior. . . ."

(questions start on the next page)
(On this page, you may start typing the questions)
We have had multiple incidents where students have lost their exam answers due to storage failure. You must save your file often in multiple locations -- your hard drive as well as on a USB drive, CD, or other storage device.

We also recommend that you print your exam answers often (every 20 minutes). You will not be given additional time on the exam for file storage problems.
Take-Home & Floating Exam Information

Floating Exam: Picked up any day during exam period; returned by deadline.

Take-Home Exam: Picked up on the specified date/time; returned by deadline.

Take-home and floating exams will be administered by you. Please be guided by the following:

1. Please refer to memo dated April 21, 2014, to refresh your memory on how to format take-home and floating exams.

2. Take-home and floating exams must be given within the exam period. They may NOT be scheduled to begin before the first day of the exam period (Wednesday, April 30), nor may they extend past 4:30 p.m. on the last day of the exam period (Monday, May 12). Please note that a faculty assistant will be available from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, May 3 (Sally Zaleski, ph. 512-232-1168) and Saturday, May 10 (Dottie Lee, ph. 512-232-1327) to receive and/or distribute floating exams to students. Additionally, it is important to note that take-home exams are given on a specific day within the exam period; however, floating exams must be made available to students during the entire exam period. Instruct students receiving extra time on their exams (those identified by SAO) that all floating exams must be turned in no later than 4:30 p.m. on Monday, May 12. Though the exam period includes Tuesday, May 13, only postponed exams are scheduled on that date.

3. For take-home and floating exams, you will be responsible to coordinate duplicating. You will need one copy for each student enrolled and six copies for Student Affairs. UT Duplicating must be called (471-1615) for individual exam pick-up and delivery. UT Duplicating will guarantee arrival of duplicated exams within 48 hours of pick-up, so it is recommended that you duplicate any original take-home or floating exam not received a minimum of three business days prior to the assigned exam time.

4. Initially, the SAO will need six (6) copies of the examination to place on file. If authorized by the professor, five copies of the exam will be forwarded to the library for students’ reference (after all grades have been recorded). If not authorized by the professor to go on reserve in the library, the five copies will be shredded. One copy will remain on file in the SAO for one year, then shredded.

5. The SAO will provide you with a copy of the class roster. Any students who get extra exam time or who have postponed the exam will be marked on the roster. This information, along with exam numbers, is confidential and should NOT be shared with other students or faculty. Please use this roster to indicate the dates/times the exam was picked up and returned by the student. This "out/in" exam log is required to be completed and must be brought back to the SAO immediately after the take-home or floating exam has ended. Additionally, please bring one copy of the exam for each postponed/“no show” student. Postponed exams for take-home and floating exams will continue to be administered by the SAO.

6. Please identify each student who arrives to pick up an examination by requesting a photo id or comparing student to picture on photo roster.

7. If you experience any problems during administration of the exam, please contact Elizabeth Bangs, Assistant Dean for Student Affairs (TNH 2.117, ph. 232-1313).

8. Once exam is complete, assemble exams (as preferred by faculty member) and give to the professor for grading. Take-home and floating exams do not need to be brought to the SAO for processing.

9. If the exam consists of an objective part with scantron answer sheets, the SAO will continue to provide the scantrons; however, you must coordinate with the Center for Teaching & Learning’s Test Scanning Services to perform the analysis and scoring.
C. GRADING POLICY

1. The mean grade for a class shall be between 3.25 and 3.35, unless one of the exceptions enumerated below (see 2) applies.

   a. Inclusion of Non-JDs Is Optional: All JD students enrolled in the class must be included in this calculation. The instructor has discretion as to whether to include any enrolled non-JD students in this calculation. If the non-JD students are not included with the JD students in the mean calculation, no mean requirement applies to the non-JD students.

   b. Treatment of First-Year Students in Upper-Class Courses: Professors may calculate separate curves for first-year and upper-class students in courses that enroll both. Each curve considered separately shall be subject to these rules.

2. Exceptions

   a. High Incoming GPAs: If the average incoming GPA of the JD students who enroll in an upper-division class is above 3.5, the maximum permitted mean grade for the class rises accordingly (i.e., to the level of the average incoming GPA of the JD students). The minimum permissible mean grade remains 3.25, subject to other exceptions listed below.

   b. Small Enrollments: In classes with 20 or fewer students (counting only JDs if non-JD students are graded separately) where relief is not already available under exception 2(a) (“High Incoming GPAs”), faculty may seek relief from rule 1 from the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs on either of the following grounds:
      (i) the method of evaluation for the class renders it inappropriate to conform to the mean requirement; or
      (ii) the class did not generate an appropriate grade distribution.

   c. Truly Exceptional Circumstances: In classes with 21 or more students (counting only JDs if non-JD students are graded separately) where relief is not already available under exception 2(a) (“High Incoming GPAs”), faculty may seek relief from rule 1 from the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs in the event of a truly exceptional justification.

   d. Seminars: Seminars automatically are exempt from rule 1.
3. Distribution of Grades

a. Mandatory Distribution of Grades in First-Year Large Sections:
   - 30 to 40% of grades must be A+, A, or A-; and,
   - at least 5% of grades must be C+, C, D, or F.

b. Recommended Distribution of Grades in Other Courses:
   - about 35% of grades should be A+, A, or A-;
   - about 55% of grades should be B+, B, or B-; and,
   - about 10% of grades should be C+, C, D, or F.

c. Maximum Percentage of A+ Grades: A maximum of 6% A+ grades (rounded up to the next whole number) may be awarded in most classes. In seminars, no more than 15% of the grades may be A+.
D. SEXUAL DISCRIMINATION & SEXUAL HARASSMENT POLICY

Policy Statement

It is the policy of The University of Texas at Austin to provide an educational and working environment for its students, faculty and staff that is free from sex discrimination and sexual harassment. In accordance with federal and state law, the University prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex, including sexual harassment. Sex discrimination and sexual harassment will not be tolerated, and individuals who engage in such conduct will be subject to disciplinary action. The University encourages students, faculty, staff and visitors to promptly report sex discrimination and sexual harassment.

Scope

This policy applies to visitors, applicants for admission to or employment with the University, and students and employees of the University who allege sex discrimination, including sexual harassment, by University employees, students, visitors, or contractors.

Definitions

A. Sexual Harassment

1) submission to such conduct is made an explicit or implicit term or condition of employment or status as a student in a course, program or activity;

2) submission to or rejection of such conduct is used as a basis for an employment or educational decision; or

3) such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual’s work or educational performance, or creates an intimidating, hostile environment.

Behaviors that may constitute sexual harassment include but are not limited to:

- demanding sexual favors in exchange for an educational benefit such as a grade, or for an employment benefit such as a position, promotion or raise. withholding an educational or employment benefit because a request for sexual favors is rejected; or
- unwelcome and persistent behavior such as:
  - requests for dates, sexual propositions, invitations and flirtations made in person or by means of letters, notes, phone calls or e-mail;
  - verbal expressions of a sexual nature including comments about a person’s body, attire, appearance, or sexual activities;
- sexually suggestive jokes, innuendoes, sounds or gestures including leering;
- anecdotes, questions or comments about one’s own or others sexual activities;
- excessive or inappropriate touching in the form of hugs, pinching, shoulder rubs, pats, brushing up against another’s body;
- use of sexually suggestive objects, articles, tapes, pictures or other materials that are unrelated to work or the subject matter of a course.

B. Sexual Misconduct

Sexual misconduct is conduct of a sexual nature that is not so serious or pervasive that it rises to the level of sexual harassment, but that is unprofessional and inappropriate for worksites and instructional situations.

Behaviors that may constitute sexual harassment include but are not limited to:

- failure to observe the appropriate boundaries of the supervisor/subordinate or faculty/student relationship;
- repeatedly engaging in sexually oriented conversations, comments or horseplay, for example, telling jokes or anecdotes of sexual nature in the workplace or classroom, even if those present do not object to that conduct;
- gratuitous use of sexually oriented materials not directly related to the subject matter of work, a meeting, a class or course, even if those present do not object to the use of the material.

C. Consensual Relationships

The University considers a consensual romantic and/or sexual relationship between a University employee with supervisory teaching, evaluation or advisory authority and an employee, student or student employee who is directly supervised, taught, evaluated or advised by such employees to be a prohibited conflict of interest. Such relationships must be reported pursuant to The University’s policy. Please see:

D. Reporting and Referral Responsibilities

Administrators, academic advisors and supervisors are responsible for promptly reporting incidents of sexual harassment or sexual misconduct that come to their attention as follows:

- Employee complaints of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment by a member of the faculty or staff or vendor or visitor to the campus should be reported, and the complainant referred, to the Equal Employment Opportunity Office, 206 Flawn Academic Center, 471-1849.
- Student complaints of sexual harassment or sexual misconduct by a member of the faculty or staff or by a vendor or visitor to the campus should be reported, and the complainant referred, to the Sexual Harassment Officer for Students, Office of the Dean of Students Office, Room 4.14, Student Services Building, 471-9700.

- Student complaints of sexual harassment or sexual misconduct by another student should be reported, and the complainant referred, to Student Judicial Services, Office of the Dean of Students, Room 4.104, Student Services Building, 471-2841.
E. EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

FIRE

ACTIVATE THE NEAREST FIRE ALARM PULL STATION IMMEDIATELY IF YOU SEE FIRE OR SMOKE. WHEN A FIRE IS SUSPECTED OR ACTIVATED, THE FIRE DEPARTMENT SHOULD BE NOTIFIED AUTOMATICALLY. EMERGENCY FIREMANagers AT THE LAW SCHOOL WILL RESPOND TO ASSESS THE SITUATION.

- Evacuate the building immediately. Following the guidelines for the School of Law Facilities Emergency Plan.
- Call 911 or UTPD 471-4441.

DO NOT USE ELEVATORS.

- DURING THE EMERGENCY, IMMEDIATELY NOTIFY THE EMERGENCY FLOOR MANAGER TO EVACUATE THE BUILDING AND IMMEDIATELY NOTIFY FIRE FIGHTERS WHO WILL THEN ASSIST IN THE EVACUATION EFFORT.
- Do not enter buildings until all clear is announced by emergency staff.

SEVERE WEATHER

TORNADO

IF A TORNADO IS SIGHTED NEAR THE UNIVERSITY, DIAL 911 OR CALL 471-4441 FROM A CELL PHONE TO REPORT A TORNADO_SIGHTING TO THE UTPD DISPATCHER. SEEK SHELTER IMMEDIATELY.

IF A TORNADO IS IMMINENT OR NEAR YOU, DO THE FOLLOWING:

- Seek the safest area in the Law School: TMM Level 2, Dean's Hall corridor and George's Hall. (See floor plans)
- Evacuate to other areas with windows.
- The southwest and north areas of the Tannen Law Library.
- All doors to rooms with exterior windows.
- Go to an interior hallway.
- Protect yourself by going into a "drop and roll" position.

IF THERE IS NO TIME TO GET INSIDE...

- Lie in a ditch or low-lying area or crouch near a strong building.
- Be aware of potential for flooding.
- Use jacket, cap, backpack or any similar item to protect face and eyes.
- Protect yourself by going into a "drop and roll" position.

MEDICAL EMERGENCIES

LOOK FOR A MEDIC ALERT BRACELET OR NECKLACE.

IF YOU TRIED TO CATCH MALNOURISHED, SEEK MEDICAL ATTENTION IMMEDIATELY.

MEDICAL ALERT: BURSAR'S OFFICE

E. EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS SCHOOL OF LAW

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

IMPORTANT NUMBERS:

- Law School Dean's Office: 252.1120
- Police: 911 or UTPD 471.4441
- UT Patient Information: 252.9999
- UT Facilities Emergency: 471.2020
- 471.2020: How to Submit a Claim
- 471.6777: Injuries (injuries with your ID card)
- Property: 471.8006
- Auto Assistance (LAN): 471.4441
- UT Campus Emergency Updates: www.utexas.edu/emergency

LOCKDOWN

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS SCHOOL OF LAW

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

The directive "lockdown" is used to protect occupants from an immediate threat by limiting access to building and rooms.

Should you discover that there is a violent or potentially violent person in your building, do not confront the person unless there is no other option to save your life.

Follow these "OUTS":

- Get Out of the building as quickly as possible.
- Call Out: Call 911 or UTPD 4441.
- Keep Out: Do not lock exterior doors. Close, lock, and barricade interior doors in your office.
- Hide Out: Seek shelter in the nearest secured place, i.e., classroom or office. Turn of all lights and any devices that may indicate that the room is occupied. REQUIR: Do not respond to anyone at the door. Sit or lie on the floor or crouch behind or under desk. Law enforcement will announce themselves and release anyone in that room when it is safe.
- Take Out - Last resort. Use anything to distract or disable the suspect if the suspect were to enter your classroom or space.

UNKNOWN PERSON:

Direct ALL unknown persons to the school of law of the school of law a.

DO NOT send any visitor to the legal clinic or the pro bono program: they do not accept walk-ins.

To report suspicious activity, contact UTPD 471.4441 or 911.

DISGRUNTLED INDIVIDUAL:

Listen to the concerns and try to redirect the individual to the appropriate office.

If the person has a legal problem, refer them to the legal clinic or the pro bono program: 512.323.2600.

If you feel threatened at any time, call UTD 471.4441 and give as much information as possible:

Notify Dean's Office 252.1120

SHELTER IN PLACE

Shelter-in-place is the use of any classroom, office, or building for the purpose of providing temporary shelter.

Shelter-in-place procedures may be implemented in the following manner: tornado, severe weather conditions, pipeline rupture, terrorist attack, release of biological or chemical agents.

- Seek the safest area in the law school.
- Stay away from windows.
- Use arms to protect head and neck in "drop and roll" position.
- Monitor emergency communications for instructions: www.utexas.edu/emergency