

*Wise Words
Beautiful Words*

What's wrong with the world and what's right? Answers expected only in your spare time.

Keep finding things funny.
That's the recipe for longevity.

There are those dainty, dangling slippers again.
Here a variety of magnolia blooms in early spring. Big pink blossoms on bare tree trunks soon replaced by luxuriant foliage.

Quotes from some of Liz's emails over the past several years.

On May 2, 2014, at 2:30 in the morning, Elizabeth Tigar Bowers passed away in Simi Valley, California. She was born May 26, 1917. She had instructed us that she was to be cremated and that there not be a public funeral. We have carried out her wish. Close family came together to say good-bye.

We have received many messages of condolence from family and friends. We thank all of you.

We will hold a celebration of her life on October 4, 2014, at midday, in the San Fernando Valley or Simi Valley area. Please e-mail to sharontmiller@gmail.com to let us know if you think you can be there, and how many will be coming. Based on the response, we will choose a place to hold the event, with food and drink and space to be together.

"We live in our own minds. We survive in the minds of others." She touched the lives of so many people. She survives, and in coming together we share and celebrate what endures.

Elizabeth Tigar Bowers. May 17, 1917 - May 2, 2014

CELEBRATION OF LIFE

On October 11, 2014, we will celebrate the life of our mother

Elizabeth Tigar Bowers

She touched our lives in so many ways

In that sense she is still with us

October 11, 2014 (NOTE THE DATE CHANGE)

2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Please celebrate with us

At the home of Sharon and Don Miller

4688 Walnut Avenue

Simi Valley, California

RSVP: sharontmiller@gmail.com

If you have pictures, please bring them