

The second would be after at least 5 jury trials or lead counsel. This might be unrealistic since there are so few jury trials nowadays -- but 2 should be the minimum.

We can't make Mike 7 years out of em -- (over people)

Dear Mr. Tub FAR':

You must take over and require that each lawyer who wants to try cases take two NITA-type courses. The first would be after at least 5 ~~jury~~ trials at second chair.

Providence + Mike Zigar have
can become reasonably good trial lawyers.

God damn these depositions
during trials.

Yow the man!
