As the world returned to a more normal ebb and flow of business and routines, the Center for Women in Law team was thrilled to resume in-person programming, including the Women’s Power Summit™ and our intern-led Coffee with the Court event.

We’re still embracing the flexibility and benefits of virtual programming, too. The Center continues to extend our reach and elevate our work to a wider audience across the country and around the globe.

I’d like to thank Susan Blount for her leadership as President of our Executive Committee and her tireless commitment to the Center and its mission.

Our 2021-2022 Impact Report highlights the ambitious and impactful work from the past year. With a revamped Accelerate program for new lawyers and our new Ascend program for established lawyers, the Center is soaring to new heights and continuing to look for ways to more deeply engage with the very diverse legal profession.

Our work is only possible with the generous commitment of time, talent, and treasure from women lawyers, corporate partners, and our colleagues. You are the power for change. And we are grateful for your support of our work.

I extend a heartfelt thank you for making all we do possible. Here’s to continuing to soar and recommitting to our core values of integrity, inclusion, information, influence, and investment.

ACCELERATE: CAREER START

Our Accelerate: Career Start program enjoyed a refresh and relaunch in 2022 with additional opportunities for professional development through an expanded multi-year program.

The program received a new name, Accelerate: Career Start, and additional opportunities for professional development through an expanded multi-year program. The program also extended participation to include new lawyers in the non-profit and public sectors.

In the first year of the new Accelerate program, lawyers network and learn critical skills through plenary sessions addressing such topics as best practices for starting a legal career, the business of law, and the importance of communicating and connecting more effectively.

In the second and third years of the program, participants explore career opportunities and challenges with small cohorts facilitated by senior lawyers, including partners and general counsel.

Our 2022 program kicked off in January with 107 first-year associates. Plenary sessions were held in January, March, May, August, and October. Our 107 first-year associates hailed from 20 cities, 11 states, and represent 14 firms and organizations. Since the program’s

“We will not rest in our work to generate lasting change within the legal profession.”

In 2021-2022, the Center for Women in Law programming expanded, renewing our commitment to engage with every age and stage of women lawyers. From law students to first-year associates, mid-career through retirement, the Center’s programming is inclusive and wide-ranging. We continue to look for ways to welcome more lawyers, allied organizations, and professional associations, balancing our in-person programming with the expanded reach of our online events.

“Accelerate is a powerful program. As a first-year associate transitioning into BigLaw, Accelerate gave me crucial skills, support, and tools to implement on a daily basis, many of which are geared toward the unique difficulties we face as women in law. I am fortunate to be a participant and would urge any first-year woman lawyer to join.”

Launched in March 2022, Ascend is a program with a curriculum geared toward established lawyers looking to further their careers. As lawyers’ careers are rising, they often face competing opportunities and shifting priorities as they gain a more precise definition of career success and excellence. Ascend helps equip all lawyers for this pivotal time in their professional development and careers.

Whether the goal is partnership, independence, entrepreneurship, or career transition, Ascend helps established lawyers explore the opportunities and challenges of furthering their careers through promotions, pivots, and reimagining. Ascend’s modular curriculum allows participants to tailor the program to focus on the skills and information needed to meet their goals.

Our series launched in February with an interactive workshop led by Georgetown University Associate Dean and Professor Hillary Sale. Participants focused on the power and importance of having a strategic career plan.

During the summer, Ascend offered the first of a two-session program with author Ashley Whillans, using her Time Smart book as a guide. Time is a valuable resource, and Professor Whillans guided participants through her research on time use and happiness and provided practical, actionable tips to incorporate into their work and personal lives.
EX LIBRIS SERIES

The Ex Libris Series returned for its second full year of programming. The Center convenes notable authors, with a focus on those in the legal profession, to highlight their writing and research to an audience of lawyers, media, and the public.

Discussion with Linda Greenhouse, author of Justice on the Brink

In January, the Center hosted a discussion with Linda Greenhouse, the author of Justice on the Brink: The Death of Ruth Bader Ginsburg, the Rise of Amy Coney Barrett, and Twelve Months That Transformed the Supreme Court. Professor Stephen Vladeck, Charles Alan Wright Chair in Federal Courts at The University of Texas School of Law, moderated the conversation, which drew more than 400 participants.

Discussion with authors from Women in Law: Discovering the True Meaning of Success

Women in Law: Discovering the True Meaning of Success chronicles the stories of 23 women lawyers as each one embarks on her own personal journey of self-love, self-reflection, and self-awareness to define for herself what success means in law — and in life. This deeply personal and candid discussion covered the trials and tribulations leading to a defining moment in each author’s life. Four of the best-selling book’s 23 authors joined us in May for our second Ex Libris event in 2022, attended by more than 85 participants.

The Susan Blount Power Lunch Series spotlights remarkable lawyers from diverse backgrounds and careers, sharing their personal and professional journeys and experiences with students and lawyers. The Susan Blount Power Lunch Series hosts experts in conversation on a wide range of professional topics and industry sectors.

A Conversation with Erin Nealy Cox

We kept the conversation virtual in November 2021 with Erin Nealy Cox, former U.S. Attorney and partner at Kirkland & Ellis, joining us in conversation with Angela Styles, ’94, partner at Akin Gump and former Administrator of the Office of Federal Procurement Policy.

Ms. Nealy Cox shared her career journey and discussed the practical challenges and opportunities of navigating public service and private practice. Given Ms. Nealy Cox’s experience in both the private and public sector, this Power Lunch Series event provided an opportunity to discuss adding value to clients, maintaining ethical standards, and the balance of political appointments and apolitical job duties in the public sector. Our 120 participants in this event also had the opportunity to earn Continuing Legal Education credit.

“The speakers featured were articulate masters of their trades!”

The Susan Blount Power Lunch Series is supported by the generosity of the Hortense Ward Speakers Fund.
The Center for Women in Law launched the Ginsburg Initiative in 2021 to honor the legacy of Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg and Marty Ginsburg. Their partnership was a true commitment to gender equality and serves as an example for us all. The Initiative advances gender-neutral policies that support systemic change in the legal profession, such as best practices around work assignments, performance expectations, parental leave, and transparency in career development.

Innovations in Equality

Building off our successful launch, the Ginsburg Initiative continued to flourish with more than 250 participants in an October 2021 panel discussion. Innovations in Equality explored innovations in fair work assignments, ensuring equity between remote and in-person lawyers, post-Covid hiring and promotion practices, and the use of the Mansfield Rule in legal hiring. Our powerhouse lineup of legal experts included: Nadira Clarke, Moderator, Baker Botts; Rekha Chiruvolu, Director of Diversity, Equity & Inclusion, Nixon Peabody; Sheryl Koval Garko, Partner and Global Chair of Women’s Initiative, Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP; and Caren Ulrich Stacy, Founder and Chief Experimentation Officer, Diversity Lab.

The Center for Women in Law created the Ginsburg Circle consisting of donors making gifts of $1,000 or more annually to support this growing, new initiative.

“We hope that our gift to the Ginsburg Circle will lead to increased communication about and knowledge of the persisting barriers to gender parity.”

- Ann and James Lebeck, Ginsburg Circle members
PERSPECTIVES SERIES

The Center’s Perspective Series hosts discussions with relevant professionals and experts on timely issues facing the legal profession working towards a just society. These discussions appeal to a wide range of professional women leaders, lawyers, and the general public.

A Conversation with Arleas Upton Kea

Our November 2021 event returned us to an in-person format for A Conversation with Arleas Upton Kea, ’82, Deputy to the Chairman for External Affairs, FDIC. Veronica Vargas Stidvent, Executive Director of the Center for Women in Law, moderated the discussion, which was co-sponsored by the Women’s Law Caucus and the Texas Business Law Society.

WOMEN’S POWER SUMMIT ON LAW & LEADERSHIP™

Since 2009, the Center for Women in Law has hosted the premiere Women’s Power Summit™, convening a who’s-who of influential women in the legal and business community to generate ideas and lead change. Speakers and attendees include lawyers at the height of their career – chief legal officers and general counsel, law firm managing partners, judges, government officials, law school deans, bar presidents, and other preeminent lawyers, as well as academics and business leaders who are positioned to make significant and lasting change in the legal profession.

The Center was thrilled to bring this in-person, high-impact event back April 6-8 to Austin’s Four Seasons Hotel. The theme was The Power of Transitions to Transform. More than 260 people attended and heard from speakers, including Sandra Bang, Michelle Banks, Justice Jane Bland, Susan Blount, Oliver Burkeman, Vivia Chen, Farayi Chipungu, Sarah ElRaheb-Dagher, David Lat, Heather McGowan, Michele Meyer-Shipp, Abby Phillip, The Honorable Carrie Ricci, Scott Westfahl, and many more.

Our Advisory Board drove this event to new heights, and the Center wishes to acknowledge our event chairs Janet Bawcom, Melanie Gray, and Grace Fisher Renbarger for their leadership and contributions to our Women’s Power Summit™.

Our thanks to our sponsors for making the 2022 Women’s Power Summit™ possible.
Our Interns

The Center for Women in Law is grateful for the work of our student interns. Interns are involved in all aspects of the Center’s business, including organizing and running student and practitioner-focused events, researching issues concerning gender equity in the legal profession, and corresponding with Center Founders and Power Circle Members.

COFFEE WITH THE COURT

This year’s interns collaborated to create a new student-focused event, Coffee with the Court. This March event at The University of Texas School of Law featured three distinguished judges. Justice Chari Kelly, Judge Jan Soifer, and Judge Maya Guerra Gamble took part in a 45-minute panel discussion about their judicial journeys, their judicial philosophies and approach to the law, and their expectations of law clerks and lawyers appearing in their courtroom. Following the discussion, participants had an opportunity to network with the panelists, their fellow law students, and Center leaders.

Our Founders, Power Circle Members, and supporters are powering change with their deep commitment to the Center

Our Center for Women in Law Founders, a dedicated group of friends who conceived of the Center and provided the initial funding for our endowment, are at the heart and soul of our mission and programming. Our 50 Founding members, 38 of whom are Texas Law alumni, give significant financial support and time and talent to our planning and programming throughout the year.

Their leadership is transformative and, we hope, inspiring to you. We would like to acknowledge our Founders, as well as our Power Circle members.

FRIENDS OF THE CENTER

Friends of the Center advance our mission by making an annual gift of any amount. These gifts support our programs for law students and practitioners. Outright gifts made via cash, check, or credit card are the easiest to make. Gifts are tax-deductible in the year given. The Center will also gratefully accept pledges — gifts that are paid over time. You can make a pledge commitment and set up a payment schedule that works best for you.

POWER CIRCLES

Membership in special circles recognizes gifts at various levels and helps integrate our supporters into the Center’s work.

GINSBURG CIRCLE

We invite supporters and allies who share our vision for a legal profession that exemplifies equity and justice for all to join the Ginsburg Circle.

40 HOURS FOR THE FORTY ACRES

40 Hours for the Forty Acres is a student-focused fundraising drive that provides an opportunity to support the Center through donations of all sizes. Through our most recent 40 Hours for the Forty Acres fundraising campaigns, we generated more than $12,500 to continue to seed our Pathways program.

PLANNED GIVING

Interested in helping the Center for Women in Law change the world but feel overwhelmed by the thought of writing another check or giving up your assets today? Planned gifts can be made now or deferred to a later date. Whether you use cash, appreciated securities/stock, real estate, artwork, partnership interests, personal property, life insurance, a retirement plan, etc., the benefits of funding a planned gift can make this type of charitable giving very attractive to you and the Center.
